Buffalo Hunt of New Picture Taken on Antelope Island

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—Filming of a herds of buffalo was begun yesterday on Antelope island, in Salt Lake lake for a portion of the new picture, "The Covered Wagon." The picture is being produced and personally supervised by James L. Lasky, a former Ogdens youth, who is now chief director for the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, with such stars as J. Warren Kerrigan, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Alan Hale and Lois Wilson in the cast.

Antelope island, which, until its purchase by the Buffalo Island Livestock company, was known as Antelope island, was chartered for the filming of the picture and the old ranch, of which Brigham Young was the founder, was transformed into a "movie set" for the making of the picture. A barricade, had been built in the form of a triangle, with the apex facing the direction in which it was expected to take the pictures. The barricade was eight feet high and completely filled in the interior with sand as to lessen the danger of injury to the cameraman, director and spectators. In the event the buffalo should charge. The rear of the barricade was used in the scene.

The exactness of the director was demonstrated as soon as action began. A feature of the day proved to be a performance on the part of Tully Marshall, who, as the father of a youth approaching maturity, Tully's performance, in the part of Jim Bridger, was to ride a horse into the herd of buffalo and to lead them from the back of the party to the front of the herd. The performer rode twice and failed, but came up riding, ready to go at it again, and he did good the third time. The animal was not killed, although Mr. Marshall had done the trick had it been absolutely necessary. He rode the animal, bucking buffalo for a great distance, than seemed in keeping with his own conduct, secured the effect, and, under the cover of a rusty rifle, dismounted and returned the barricade.

The party will assemble this evening to leave tomorrow for Garrison, where the picture will be taken. Between which 20 per cent of the remaining fees will be taken.

ECKHARDT EXPLAINS HIS RESIGNATION

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—Announcement was made yesterday by John H. Eckhardt, state director of finance and purchase, that Vaughn Cutler will probably be selected to succeed E. L. Cooper as bookkeeper in the department when Mr. Cooper assumes his duties as purchasing agent, now in the hands of H. V. Eckhardt, of Ogden.

Mr. Eckhardt said yesterday that he had been asked by Mr. Glenn to resign. The purchasing agent had, he requested that the request for his resignation be in writing, giving any charges, if there were any. Mr. Glenn used to write him any such letter. Glenn said that his reasons for resigning this action were not the result of any criticism of Mr. Eckhardt's actions, but were based on what he termed "incompatibility of temperament."

MOVIE STUNTS UNDER PROTEST

Actors Denounce Realism At Cost of Danger to Life and Limb

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Realism in the movies at the cost of endangering the life and limb of the players has been denounced in a memorial submitted by Frank J. Gilmore, to Will H. Hays and Jesse L. Lasky, the executive secretary of the Actors' Equity association announced.

The memorial was submitted to Mr. Hays as president of the National Association of Motion Picture Producers and Exhibitors, Inc., and to Mr. Lasky as head of one of the largest picture producing companies. Mr. Gilmore said that the Equity is making an effort to obtain for the motion picture actor a uniform contract.

The memorial finds that "There are actors taking chances" and continues:

"Such scenes as result in injury or physical disfigurement to the player are often demanded. 'Realistic' fight scenes, automobile, train, and ship scenes are often staged with utter disregard for the players' welfare. The stars of our industry demand 'double' for this work, but the supporting player is expected not only to be a good actor, but to do anything he is told to do or lose any further chance of employment with that particular director."

"Very often surprises are sprung by the director unknown to the actor, as for instance, explosives, discharged nearby without the actor's knowledge, even though at the time he may be mounted on an unreliable horse."

Exide BATTERIES

Delivering the goods

The horse is being driven closer to his stable; the gas truck (started and lighted by an Exide Battery) goes on long hauls; and through the great zone in between, the electric street vehicle is coming into its own. Propelled by an Exide-Ironclad Battery, it delivers the goods—with least trouble and most economy.

Propulsion is only one of the many functions that Exide Batteries perform in the daily life of the nation. They supply the reserve power for most wireless plants; they provide the current that sends your voice over the telephone system—that operates railroad switches, and lights farms and yachts.

Experience in making batteries for all purposes, from the very dawn of the storage battery industry, is available to you when it comes time to replace the starting and lighting battery in your automobile. You will find Exide quality an economy in long service and dependable power.

When you need a new Exide or repairs on any make of battery, let the nearest service station be of help to you.
